The 12th century cathedral outbuilding was used by monks, and used to be an alms house, hence the name. The vaulted ceiling of the under-croft restaurant area is where the monks sleeping quarters once were. They make fabulous carrot cake and delicious lunches.

Transport from London Heathrow Airport	We recommended flying to Stansted Airport, where there is a regular Train service to Ely.	However if you have booked to fly into Heathrow  http://www.heathrow-airport-guide.co.uk/transport.html  This site gives information about transport links to London. Most people use the Underground system, but exact details depend on the Terminal you use. Please head for Liverpool Street Station in London for trains to Ely, via Cambridge.  http://ojp.nationalrail.co.uk/en/pj/tt  Please note that Cambridge City is about 12 miles from Ely and has regular trains to and fro. Cambridge is a large University city and major tourist and shopping area with beautiful architecture and historical relevance to both Education and Religious observance. Kings College features regularly on the BBC and the Fitzwilliam Museum receives many visitors from overseas.
	Famous Trundle Race 	For interest in Ely the Kings School that adjoins and is annexed to the Cathedral there is a famous and ancient annual Race. The Hoop Trundle is performed to mark the re-founding of the school by King Henry VIII, in 1541. After he dissolved the monastery, he bestowed a royal Charter on the new school and introduced the first scholars. The bowling of wooden hoops within the precincts of the cathedral, along with other games, was one of the privileges that they were afforded. Female competition was added when Queen Elizabeth II introduced Queen's scholars to the school, who have taken part since. There are both male and female heats leading to a final for which a separate tankard is awarded to both sexes. The course is a 75-yard dash to a post and back, all whilst beating the hoop with a wooden stick down the college, a lane that leads to the south door of Ely Cathedral. Unfortunately this was held before Easter in 2010

OLIVER • CROMWELL'S • HOUSE • ELY

This is the only remaining house other than Hampton Court where Oliver Cromwell and his family are known to have lived.

The present east wing represents what is left of the original 13th century building. The house is some 750 years old and it has had a varied history. In the 1840's it was a public house aptly called "The Cromwell Arms" and from 1905-1986 it was the vicarage for the adjoining St. Mary's Church. Inside several rooms have been refurbished in Cromwellian style and an audio-visual presentation gives an insight into the domestic, military and political aspects of his life. The Tourist Information Centre is located downstairs and is unique in its period style and atmosphere.

	Fitzwilliam Museum Cambridge 	Exhibitions The Angel and the Virgin: A Brief History of the Annunciation  A display selected from the Museum's collection by the artist, writer and print historian Lino Mannocci, whose own work can be seen in the exhibition Clouds and Myths: Monotypes by Lino Mannocci.  Illuminating the different ways in which artists have depicted the Annunciation - the revelation of the Angel Gabriel to Mary that she would conceive a child who was the son of God - this selection unites a range of old master prints from the fifteenth to seventeenth centuries with a select group of manuscripts, enamels and ceramics. At the exhibition's centre is the Annunciation panel by Domenico Veneziano, a source of inspiration for Mannocci's own work. Tue 9 February 2010 to Sun 9 May 2010  Charrington Print Room (Gallery 16)
